The NAVIGATOR'S ASSISTANT. Containing the Theory and Practice of Navigation: With all the Tables requiſite for determining a Ship's Place at Sea. By William Nicholſon, Author of an Introduction to natural Philoſophy, in 2 Vol. 8vo.

This Work contains every element of practical navigation, with all the modern improvements rendered perfectly familiar and eaſy; at the ſame Time that every attention has been paid to keep the whole ſtrictly ſcientific, and dependent on itſelf throughout. The properties and uſes of Hadley's quadrant are amply explained, and applied to the diſcovery of the latitude and longitude, by various methods. The journal is minutely exemplified by reference to a ſet conſiſting of twelve precepts, by the help of which any one, though unacquainted with any part of navigation, may, without farther aſſiſtance, in a few days acquire the method of keeping a reckoning. The important, though too-much neglected, branch of nautical knowledge, ſurveying of harbours and coaſts, is treated in the ſame conciſe and open manner; the requiſite inſtructions being not only arranged in order, but the precepts are likewiſe illuſtrated by a drawing, and particular references for every part of the proceſs. And an extenſive collection of tables is added, conſiſting of the common logarithmic tables, natural ſines, and logarithmic ſolar tables, traverſe tables to a diſtance of 300 meridional parts, latitudes and longitudes of places, &c. Price 6 0

PHILOSOPHIA BRITANNICA; or, a new and comprehenſive Syſtem of the Newtonian Philoſophy, Aſtronomy, and Geography, in a Courſe of twelve Lectures, with Notes. Alſo, a practical Account of the Invention, Structure, Improvement, and Uſes, of all the conſiderable Inſtruments, Engines, and Machines; with new Calculations relating to their Nature, Power, and Operation. The whole collected and methodized from all the principal Authors and public Memoirs, and embelliſhed with eighty-one Copper-plates. By B. Martin, 3 Vol. 8vo. 4th Edit. Price, bound, — — — 1 4 0

THE ANCIENT HISTORY of the Egyptians, Carthaginians, Aſſyrians, Babylonians, Medes and Perſians, Macedonians, and Grecians. Tranſlated from the French, in 10 Vol. the 8th Edit. illuſtrated with Copper-plates. Price, bound, 1 10 0

Where may alſo be had

ALL new political pamphlets, particularly thoſe reſpecting the Eaſt-Indies, the India Company, and the trade thereof; with Perſian grammars, dictionary, and all the publications that are of any uſe in attaining the Oriental languages, eſſentially neceſſary to perſons intending to go in the Company's ſervice as writers, or as free merchants, in thoſe parts.

Beſides the articles mentioned in this liſt, Books in every branch of learning, alſo all new books, may be had of J. SEWELL, as ſoon as publiſhed, and care is taken to keep a good aſſortment in the beſt bindings.

JOHN SEWELL, while he begs leave to return his moſt grateful acknowledgements to the Public in general, for a long-continued ſeries of favours in the line of his profeſſion, is ſorry to find himſelf under the neceſſity of rebuking ſeveral of the Trade, who, without his knowledge or conſent, have repeatedly affixed his name as the publiſher of works of a political, and ſometimes of a very indecent and improper, tendency, which he never ſaw in manuſcript, and is aſhamed to have ſeen in print.

J. SEWELL feels himſelf the more excited to give this general notice, as ſeveral of the publications alluded to have been replete with ſentiments which, he thinks, ought to receive no encouragement. Let the parties concerned, then, conſider this as one notice for all.—Plainly to expreſs it, they are not to uſe HIS name as a ſanction to works with which he is totally unacquainted, and in which, of courſe, he cannot poſſibly have an intereſt.

He therefore thinks proper to obſerve, that he neither has had, nor will have, any concern whatever in any publication of the pamphlet kind, to which his name may at any time be annexed, in conjunction with any other booksellers, except the EUROPEAN MAGAZINE, which, he is flattered to believe, requires no aid from the common modes of advertiſing, being conducted by the aſſiſtance of perſons, who, as writers and artiſts, he is convinced will continue to ſupport the credit of a publication which has received the approbation of the beſt judges of literary merit.

The whole fifteen volumes, or any ſingle one, may be had, ready bound, for exportation.
